School strike bill displeases official

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

The head man in the Romulus school district doesn't think passage of school strike legislation, as proposed to the Michigan State Senate, could do much to help negotiations in his or other school districts.

"If nothing else, the existing bill, as passed by the Michigan House of Representatives, encourages a 3-week strike," said James Garfield, acting superintendent of schools in Romulus. "I don't think anyone is happy with the bill as it now is."

The proposal, now in the State Senate Labor Committee, is the design of a special State House Education Task Force, assigned by House Speaker Bobby Crim (D-Davidson) to devise legislation which would discourage teacher strikes, such as those which crippled Romulus two years ago and Crestwood and Garden City last year.

As approved by the House, the measure would allow a "free" 3-week teacher strike and then a 2-week strike with penalties of lost wages and state aid for both teachers and school districts.

The measure is of special interest to Romulus, since the district is negotiating teacher contracts for the coming school year.

Garfield said despite the legislation, "which works counter to the negotiating process by encouraging the teams to delay until the last minute," the talks on the contract in Romulus have been going relatively smoothly.

"The teachers and the school district have been meeting since April and are about to move into economics," Garfield added.

"I hope the contract can be settled by mid-August, and the way it's progressing, that seems to be the date for finalizing it."

Traditionally, economics are the last topics covered in negotiation.

Chris Powers, chief negotiator for the Romulus Education Association (REA) Monday in reaction to the strike bill approved by the House of Representatives said: "The proposed legislation is having no effect on the REA negotiations. We have been attempting to meet regularly in hopes of obtaining a contract before our present one expires Aug. 15."

The acting superintendent said he is upset with the proposal because "as it stands now, it's tantamount to saying 'why negotiate?'"

"The school districts are upset with it, and so are the teacher unions, so I don't think it really is serving the purpose for which it was intended," he continued.

Garfield said he would suggest the Legislature ignore passing any new legislation on teacher strikes "because we have a Supreme Court ruling on the Crestwood case and a Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) ruling to back that up."

"It looks as though the old laws work, so long as they're backed by the court rulings," he added.

The Crestwood Education Association was involved in two strikes last year, causing a stoppage of classes in the district for nearly eight weeks.

During the labor strife, the teachers were fired en masse for violating existing legislation which prohibits strikes by public employees.

The firing was upheld by the Supreme Court which said it was legal unless the Crestwood Board of Education had engaged in an unfair labor practice which sparked the strike.

A MERC referee ruled that no unfair labor practice was involved in the negotiating process, in effect uphold the Supreme Court ruling and strengthening it.

The teacher's union is going to appeal to the full MERC board.

In the past, teacher unions walked off their jobs despite legislation banning strikes by public employees, and did not suffer any consequences when they returned to work.

The Crestwood situation is the first instance where the courts upheld firings of teachers for violating the law, and a possible ruling by MERC against the teachers on the unfair labor practice charge could solidify the law even more.

Everyone likes parade

*Clowns, children
all there*

By HENRY CANTIN
Of The Roman Staff

What better way is there to observe a birthday than with a celebration and the City of Romulus did just that, staging its first "successful" Fourth of July parade in honor of our nation's Bicentennial.

The Bicentennial parade attracted more than 2,000 spectators, several hundred parade participants and more than 35 parade entries.

The parade began at 11 a.m. last Friday in the Romulus Civic Center parking lot near Wayne and Goddard roads and proceeded down Goddard to Kennedy Park near the Huron River Drive-Ozga Road intersection.

It passed before a judges' reviewing stand, set up in front of the old Romulus Township Hall, at Shook and Goddard roads.

Bicentennial Committee members and city officials also marked the signing of the Declaration of Independence with a flag raising ceremony, directed by the Romulus VFW Post 9568 Color Guard.

The parade floats included entries by the Women's Softball League, Senior Citizen and Jaycee clubs and the Romulus Hardware Co.

The award winning Wayne-Romulus unit of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP) also participated in the parade.

Members of the CAP in a pre-parade activity painted all the fire hydrants along the parade route red, white and blue, with paint furnished by the Romulus Beautification Committee.

Jack Trumble, chairman of the Romulus Bicentennial Committee and Bicentennial Parade co-chairmen Ron Makino and Phil McNett were "extremely elated" over the "parade" and community cooperation.

Donna Lee Zavitz and Marge McCrory, members of the parade committee already are laying plans for next year's event.

Trophies were presented to winning parade entries by a panel composed of officials from the Romulus Progressive, VFW, Senior Citizens, Kiwanis and Jaycee clubs.

The Women's Softball entry won a first-place trophy for the best float. Another first-place trophy was presented to the Romulus Hardware for the most original float and the senior citizens received a trophy for the "unique" band atop its float.

After the parade, a square dance and family-style picnic was held in Kennedy Park.

Taxes to rise in spite of cut

Despite a "hold the line" attitude by city officials, Romulus residents will be paying a .6-mill increase in taxes this year.

The increase — amounting to 60 cents tax on every $1,000 property of assessed valuation in the city — will pay for correcting special drainage problems in the community.

"The money — $160,000 — will be set aside to handle special problems," said Mayor Terry L. Trout. "If we get into a situation, such as the one with the Wind Cliff Subdivision near Wayne and Wick roads, we'll have money to correct it."

The tax increase will begin Romulus's total operating millage to 5.6 and the city's total millage to 12.6 for the coming year.

The taxes will raise slightly more than $1.4 million of the proposed $4.4 million budget.

This year's budget actually will be lower than last year's $4.5 million budget, but will include major increases in both rubbish removal and police protection costs.

Rubbish costs will go from $165,000 to $203,000 in fiscal 1975-76, while police protection will rise from $888,000 to $962,000 during the year.

In addition, the budget contains recommendations on salary increases — raising the mayor's pay from $17,500 to $23,332 and the clerk and treasurer salary range from $12,500 to $16,000 per year.

Council salary recommendations come to a total of $28,667, up from last year's $21,500 total.

However, none of the salary increases recommended for elected officials will take effect until 1976, provided they are approved by the Romulus City Council prior to that time.

In any event, none of the elected officials will receive the increases during the terms they now are serving. They must be elected to a new term to collect pay increases, if approved.

Major decreases in the budget come in the administrative department, where the mayor's office will take a $10,000 cut in expenditures, the court budget, where the expenditures are reduced $7,000 and the Fire Department, where expenditures are down $29,000.

In addition, the animal warden's department will be reduced $23,000.

64 vie for school post

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Of The Roman Staff

The deadline is nearing for 64 candidates to learn who will be in the "finals" for a job as superintendent of schools in the Romulus Community School District.

According to outgoing Romulus Board of Education President Carl W. Morris, the 64 candidates, including the acting superintendent, James Garfield, applied for the job, vacated by Robert McConeghy of service after 16 years.

Applications came from as far away as Florida, Iowa and Pennsylvania.

A majority of the applications came from the Ohio-Indiana-Michigan area.

"The selection committee, chosen by the Board of Education to narrow down the field, will choose between 10 and 12 finalists for the job," Morris said. "Those 10 or 12 will make up the candidates who will be interviewed by the Board of Education."

The board has agreed on an Aug. 15 deadline for finding a new superintendent. Only Morris, who has been on the Board of Education for 22 years, has gone through the selection process in the past.

Richard Nisbet, director of placement for Eastern Michigan University, heads the panel of educators who will narrow down the field. He will be given the names and information on the 64 who applied within the next week.

Garfield, acting superintendent and assistant superintendent for personnel in the district, is the only Romulus school district employee who applied for the superintendent's job.

He has been filling the post since McConeghy left.

Besides the 64 who sent letters and backup data, Morris estimates that another 12 educators sent letters inquiring about the post.

However, they will not be considered since they submitted no background data on their experience.

Nisbet said he will head a committee of representatives from six institutions in the Lower Peninsula which offer advanced degrees in education — Eastern Michigan University, the University of Michigan, Wayne State University, Central Michigan University, Michigan State University and Western Michigan University.

"Our role will be to impress upon the school board the importance of making a good decision on the superintendent and to offer the board suggestions on how to proceed to make a good choice," Nisbet added.

Basic requirements for the superintendent's post as outlined in a brochure sent to candidates by the Romulus Board include management experience in education, expertise in teaching and operating a building as a principal, a master's degree in school administration and five years of work in school administration.

According to Red Cross

Knowing how to swim--a life saver

Whether you choose to vacation at one of Michigan's many lakeside resorts or stay at home and enjoy your private pool, the Red Cross urges people to learn how to swim or to improve their swimming abilities.

But until such time as residents can brush up or expand their skills, the Red Cross suggests they follow these helpful tips:

—Watch small children most carefully in and around the water. Even in supervised areas and even at shallow wading pools, mere seconds of inattention can be tragically fatal.

—When swimming a long distance, have someone with you and stay close to the shore.

—Swim in a safe place. The presence of lifeguards usually indicates the area is safe for swimming. Stay away from the area immediately in front of a diving board and do not swim near piers or pilings.

—Before diving, make sure the water is deep enough and there are no submerged rocks or other hidden objects. In pools, look for depth markings before diving.

—As a swimmer know your limitations and stay within them.

Wait at least an hour after eating before swimming. Do not swim when overheated or overtired.

—Make certain that reaching poles, buoys and similar rescue gear readily are available at your swimming area. Don't depend on an inflated toy or inner tube to hold you up. It may slip from under you.

—Whenever a thunderstorm threatens, get out of the water — it is a conductor of lightning.

Home pool drowning: Here's to avoid one

Home swimming pools are a lot of fun, but more than 300 drownings occur in them every year. With pool construction on the rise, that figure threatens to go even higher unless pool owners, including those living in Western Wayne County, become more safety conscious.

To avoid accidents during the warm vacation days ahead:

(1) Pool owners should insist that every adult using the pool be able to swim. Children using the pool should learn to swim as soon as possible. Classes for swimmers at all levels of ability are offered by Red Cross throughout the year.

(2) The pool should be enclosed by a fence and gate with lock to prevent unauthorized entry.

(3) Never permit swimming alone and never leave a child alone near the pool for even a few seconds.

(4) Make sure that at least one person on hand knows artificial respiration, rescue methods and first aid. These lifesaving techniques are included in Red Cross swimming and water safety classes.

(5) Forbid use of television sets, record players and radios at poolside unless they are battery operated. Electric lighting by and in the pool should be installed only by a licensed electrician. Electrical service outlets should not be installed near a pool. A ground fault interrupter can be purchased to protect all electrical lines to pumping, filtering and lighting systems.

(6) Use buoyed line to separate shallow and deep water.

(7) Keep poolside area clear of bottles, glasses and other sharp objects.

(8) Maintain clean, clear water. Consult local health department for pool sanitation rules.

(9) Consult city or county attorney about your responsibilities for other persons' safety with respect to insurance and other protection.

(10) Do not allow people to swim right after eating, when overheated or during electrical storms.

For the townships

Panel recommends to extend sheriff patrols

By HENRY CANTIN
Of The Roman Staff

County-financed police protection in seven townships by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Road Patrol Division until Nov. 30, the end of the county's fiscal year, has been recommended by the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

A request by Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas for additional funding to extend the Road Patrol service to the townships was recommended unanimously by the committee at its meeting held in Detroit last week.

The recommendation now will go before the Ways and Means Committee of the county board where it is expected to be supported.

Present funding of the Road Patrol to out-county townships expires July 30.

In April, the Board of Commissioners approved a recommendation, made by both the Public Safety and Judiciary and Ways and Means committees, to extend the patrol's services to the townships for 90 days.

The additional funding, if approved by the full Board of Commissioners, will mean an expenditure of $110,000 by the county to operate the Road Patrol until Nov. 30, a committee spokesman said.

The county appropriated $467,000 to finance a 24-hour, 7-day a week patrol of the seven townships, covered by the 28-member Road Patrol force in the latter part of April.

The Ways and Means Committee is expected to review the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee recommendation within the next few weeks and the full Board of Commissioners could act on it before the end of the month.

The county has been approving funding for the Road Patrol on a piecemeal basis for the last two years while trying to persuade the seven townships to agree to share in the cost of the patrol operation, or contract for police protection from the sheriff.

Currently, a 3-member committee of the Board of Commissioners has been trying to negotiate a cost sharing package for the Road Patrol protection with the townships.

The townships opposing any reduction or elimination of the Road Patrol services are Brownstown, Canton, Huron, Northville, Plymouth, Sumpter and Van Buren.

The townships contend that the county has the legal responsibility to patrol townships in absence of a township police force.

The county has threatened to reduce or eliminate the Road Patrol, but the Wayne County Supervisors Association initiated a Wayne County Circuit suit, contesting the move by the county to end the Road Patrol and seeking a ruling holding that the townships have the legal right to Road Patrol services.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Thomas J. Foley recently ruled that the county is obligated to provide the service, but it can maintain whatever level of service it deems appropriate. The court ruling means that the Board of Commissioners are "free to exercise their discretion" on the Road Patrol question.

The townships have appealed this decision and the Michigan Court of Appeals agreed to hear the appeal although no hearing date has been scheduled.

Canton Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein, leader of the 7-township battle against the county to require police protection by the Road Patrol without cost to the townships said: "The judge simply ruled that there was not enough legal merit to try the case and dismissed it. I believe there is enough merit to the case for it to be heard in open court."

FNS adds social worker

The Romulus office of Family and Neighborhood Services (FNS), a United Way-funded agency, has added a social worker to the 4-member staff.

Charlene Snowden, 34, the holder of a master of social work degree in group services from Wayne State University, entered the FNS staff July 1.

The hiring of Mrs. Snowden, who completed her studies this June, marks the second time she has been on the FNS staff, according to director Alton Shelly.

Mrs. Snowden was an intern in group services between September 1973 and June 1974.

"What this means is that we're hiring someone who has some background in the community and who can use that background to improve services offered by this office," Shelly said. "I'm pleased to have her return because of the valuable service she provided the first time she was here."

During the 1973-74 stint at the FNS, Mrs. Snowden established a parents group and a peer counseling group at Romulus High School.

Her duties will include continuing those services, in addition to providing more group services in both individual and family counseling.

Prior to coming to FNS, Mrs. Snowden served as a counselor and instructor at Bishop College, in Dallas, Tex. Before that she was the assistant to the executive director of the Urban League in Flint.

She also has background as a teaching assistant and as a tutor.

Mrs. Snowden is married to Raymond Snowden, director of the Coalition for Use of Learning Skills and an assistant professor of social work at Wayne State University.

The Snowdens reside in Ann Arbor.

No salary for the new employee was released by Shelly.

The Romulus FNS office serves not only that community, but also Taylor.

Troutt names teammates Politics toned down

With rumors circulating of many new entrants into the political arena in the upcoming Romulus general election, it appears as though politics will be toned down around the Romulus City Hall.

Mayor Terry L. Troutt last week indicated that the "Troutt Team," which swept six of 10 offices in the 1973 municipal elections, would consist of himself for mayor, with John B.

Lewkowicz for treasurer.

For the City Council, the team will have incumbent council members Lenag Coleman, Joan Lee, Jack Trumble and Beverly McAnally.

On Monday Troutt said

one more council candidate, whose name he did not disclose, would be added to the political ticket.

The mayor also indicated that the announcement of the additional candidate would be made next week. He added that the Troutt Team will support no other candidate for office in the forthcoming primary election.

Leonard J. Folmar, incumbent city clerk, in commenting on the election, said he is seeking reelection for his post.

Incumbent Councilmen William Oakley and Fred Junior Block also will be running together as a team.

As we see it

Budget concept good

Stories continually come out of Lansing about legislative and bureaucratic waste. But the new concept of zero-budgeting may implement better spending controls and stop waste in governmental spending on the state level.

The concept of zero-budgeting, which probably will be used by all levels of government in the future, finds each governmental program starting from zero dollars and justifying each dollar which is to be spent. The concept operates on the premise that the fact that a program was funded last year is no justification for continued appropriations next year.

We agree with State Rep. Gary Owen when he said: "Traditionally, department heads have taken for granted that their existing programs and spending levels were acceptable and even untouchable. They only had to justify to the Legislature any increases in spending and programs for the coming budget years.

"The House and Senate appropriations committees lacked the expert assistance for the independent review of executive proposals."

But no more.

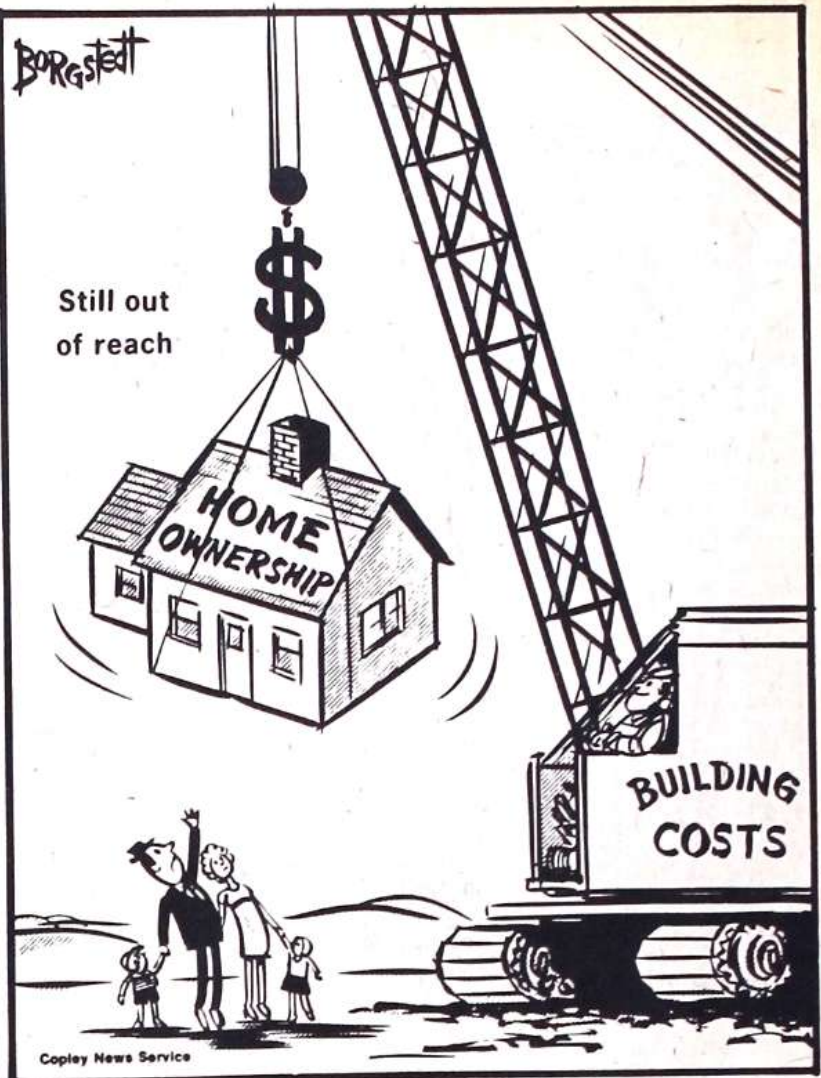

Beginning in 1970, the emphasis on program accountability has been expanded.

"Each program — there are more than 300 within state government — must specify why it exists, what activities it is performing to alleviate respective problems, and how successful that performance has been," the representative added.

"In 1975, that concept includes for the first time the zero-based budgeting concept. We on the House Appropriations Committee have been asking each state department and agency to explain fully their intended use for every dollar requested," Owen said.

We feel the zero-budgeting concept is good and should stop wastefully spending on the state level, and agree that now legislators will be able "to demand that every dollar spent be justified in terms of concrete services and advances for Michigan residents."

But sprucing up helps

Housing problems are chicken-egg variety

By STAN OPOTOWSKY
Panax Special Columnist

Many of our problems in this country today are the chicken-and-egg variety.

We know the problem. We don't know the cause, because often the problem seems to be the cause.

There is, for example, a running controversy in the urban areas about "redlining." This is when the banks draw a red line around a neighborhood on the city map and refuse to put any further mortgage money into the area.

Now here is a chicken-and-egg situation. The banks take the attitude that the neighborhood is deteriorating so badly it is no longer a safe investment. Those in the neighborhood say that the deterioration is guaranteed because the banks refuse to put money in the area.

'...each can point to the other as the original cause.'

Who is right? Both, to an extent.

But each can point to the other as the original cause. The banks obviously have no right to put someone else's money, the depositors' money, into a bad investment. And those in the neighborhood obviously have no hope of improving their lot without bank money. The carpenters and plumbers certainly won't work for free.

This carries to other problems, again in the slum areas of the cities. This one is crime. The police, whether they admit it or not, will put less attention to an area where there is high crime. Hopeless, they say. Better to put the manpower in a neighborhood where it might be effective.

That's the cause, say the residents of the neglected neighborhoods. The reason they have high crime is because the cops don't care and won't take the effort to police the streets adequately. There is no deterrent, and so there is casual crime.

The cops won't even respond to a burglary report, say the slum residents. There's no use responding because nothing can be done, the cops say. That's why there is no

There is the matter of civilian self-help. Not vigilantes patrolling the street, which is wrong in every way, but certainly the citizens can cooperate more with the police in reporting crime and, even more, providing evidence to catch and convict criminals. Too often the very victims of crime consider the cops enemies at worst and ineffective at best.

In the case of the banks, the residents of the scorned neighborhood cannot scrounge up the cash for big repairs, but they can spruce up and protect the property to the point where they gain both sympathy and confidence of the community as a whole. Naive? It hasn't been done often, but it has been done.

As they see it

A Bicentennial thanks

To the editor: As co-chairperson of the Van Buren Township Bicentennial Commission, I would like to express my appreciation for the cooperation and consideration given the Bicentennial group namely by the Enterprise-Roman, an important factor to the success of any local activity.

For the baton competition held at North Junior High School, Mr. Sparrow went to a great deal of extra effort to assist us, and Mr. Baronian helped to make our program a success.

Coykendall Florists donated beautiful red, white and blue corsages for the competition queens. Some of these people appeared in the July 4 parade. Many clubs, organizations and individuals joined the township and the city to insure the "Funtastic Festivities," a prelude to the water ski show and fireworks, a Jaycee sponsored annual event.

I personally urge anyone who has not yet joined our program to call the Township Hall for further information about our history group, Wednesday noon bingo group, or events planning. I mention these particular ones because they now are functioning and need more help.

I thank you again, one and all.

Strike legislation has been misunderstood

To the editor: I believe the legislation recently enacted by the Michigan House to limit the number and severity of school strikes has been misunderstood and misrepresented.

Under H.B. 5181 there is no such thing as a "strike with pay" for teachers. Under this bill as under present law, teachers are not paid for days they do not work—and, conversely, cannot be made to work on days for which they are not paid.

So all our legislative efforts, and any analysis of those efforts in the news media, should be made in recognition of these two basic realities: that there are no free strikes for teachers; and that there is no legal way of taking days of pay away from teachers without simultaneously taking days of schooling away from children.

The problem, under present law, lies in the fact that school districts merely are required to offer 180 days of instruction by the end of the fiscal year. This means that a district with a bargaining dispute conceivably could delay a school opening until Oct. 16, 1975, with employees still fulfilling a minimum contract and receiving their full annual compensation.

It is our belief that days of instruction offered at the expense of a reasonable number of mid-year vacation days or through an abnormal prolongation of the school year are of little educational benefit to children.

Accordingly, under House Bills No. 5181, 5182 and 5183, districts will be required to offer a minimum of 180 days of instruction, two non-instructional workdays, four specified holidays and 10 weekday vacation days by the third Friday in June. If a district offers less because of a strike, the striking employees will forfeit a day's pay for each instructional day lost, with holidays and vacation days still guaranteed, and the district will forfeit an identical amount from state or local revenue.

This means that districts with contract disputes will have a maximum leeway of just 13 potential school days after Labor Day before days of pay for employees are unavoidably lost. (About $75 a day for an average $13,700-a-year teacher.)

Since days of instruction for children inevitably must be lost when days of pay for teachers are forfeited, it is hoped that this 13-day flexibility on the starting date will result in many contract settlements that might not have been reached earlier, and thus avoid either loss.

After 10 days of a strike that cut into both salaries and instructional days, the Circuit Court would have a clear criteria for issuing an injunction. But realistically, very few strikes would ever reach this point, because H.B. 5181 gives the court authority to act, upon request, much sooner.

At any time, once the required 15-day strike notice has been given, any school board or any affected parent or taxpayer could apply for an injunction. Upon merely receiving such an application, the Circuit Court would be authorized to utilize any and all known methods of resolving the dispute—such as requiring intensive around-the-clock negotiations, remanding the dispute to the Michigan Employment Relations Commission, or even ordering immediate binding arbitration.

This is a key point that does not appear to have been publicized: that the Circuit Court is given authority—at any time a request for an injunction is received, whether or not that request is justified or is granted—to order immediate final and binding arbitration!

This legislation will carry an automatic 2-year expiration date to insure a thorough legislative review after a fair test of its workability. I ask your assistance in making its provisions clear to all involved and to a rightfully concerned public. I am confident that H.B. 5181, in its present form, can bring about a dramatic reduction in both the number and severity of teachers' strikes in Michigan.

Rep. Bobby D. Crim,
Speaker of the House

Baha'is of Michigan speak to residents

The Baha'is of Mainland Michigan have extended an invitation to all Romulus residents to join in proclaiming the Baha'i Faith, now through July 20.

A proclamation is a means by which people who have not heard of the Baha'i Faith will have a chance to hear about, Baha'u'llah, (Glory of God) prophet-founder of the faith.

Baha'is believe that through their invitation, actions and deeds they will influence other people to investigate the faith further and become Baha'is themselves.

The Baha'i Faith is an independent world religion founded in Iran (Persia) in 1844 by the Bab (Gate), who was the fore-runner to Baha'u'llah. The Bab founded the Babi religion and was martyred on July 9, 1850.

The Babi religion evolved into the Baha'i Faith after Baha'u'llah proclaimed his mission in Bagdad in 1863. At that time he proclaimed that now was the time for mankind to unite together in one common cause and one universal faith.

Some of the principles expounded by Baha'u'llah are: the oneness of mankind, one God, one mankind, the essential unity of all religions, progressive revelation, the equality of men and women, the equality of science and religion, a universal auxiliary language, the elimination of all prejudices particularly racial, religious, and national, and an international tribunal that will be the upholder of everlasting peace.

Residents will be informed of the specific activities members of the faith have planned through invitations.

Handbook aids youth workers

Youth workers in Wayne County who are not lawyers, but who work with juveniles within a framework of the law, now have a new resource to help them better understand the legalities and regulations that confront them daily in their profession.

Intended especially for the estimated 10,000 such workers in the county, the County Juvenile Facility Network (JFN) has published a new "Juvenile Justice Handbook," prepared by Professor William T. Downs of the University of Detroit Law School.

The book is called a comprehensive guide to legislation, policies and practices in Wayne County on juveniles, and although it was prepared by an attorney, it was written in non-legal language.

In non-legal language it outlines court rules, legislation, district ordinances and police and various school policies on youth.

According to Dr. Jean M. Meyer, director of Planning and Contract Compliance of the JFN, the handbook is "the first of its kind in Wayne County and fills a need that has been a big lack in a county as large as Wayne."

"This manual will be very important to people like social workers, for example, who don't know all they might need to know about laws governing youth, because of prohibiting technical jargon," she said.

"Youth workers like these particularly need a resource of this sort that ordinary people can understand," she continued.

Developed with federal funds from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration program, the book is being distributed without charge to individual workers whose agencies have attended one of four user-orientation sessions.

The book also has been given to school and community libraries and other places where it will serve as a useful public reference source, said Dr. Meyer.

The '20s re-created

'Capone' roars with gunfire

By LUCY WIESEND
Enterprise-Roman Editor

Billed as "Capone," the man who made the 1920s roar, the new 20th Century Fox film is just that. A movie roaring from beginning to end with the sound of gun fire and blasting bombs and the sight of blood and lifeless, blood-covered bodies.

It tells the story of Alphonse Capone (later changed to Al Capone) and his fight for sole control of the multi-million dollar crime empire in the Chicago of the 1920s. And that's exactly how the movie portrays the infamous Capone. He's a fighter from beginning to end who would rather take someone's life than reason with them, if they are in the way.

But just as Capone lives with tragedy and death, tragedy faces him his last days as he is turned over to the "feds" by one of his own and he ends his life as a babbling idiot, his brain rotted by syphilis.

The story of Capone's life is well-known. It has been portrayed numerous times in other films and on television. So a trip to a local movie theater to learn about the life of this infamous scar-faced mobster isn't worth it. But a trip to see Ben Gazzara as that mobster is.

To hear Gazzara speak as Capone, you'll remember Marlon Brando in his Academy-award winning role of "The Godfather." The speech of both was altered with pebbles in their mouths. And it's rather fun to watch Gazzara mature from the young Capone to the rather hefty one in his middle ages to the thinning, aging one at the end of the film.

In a publicity release on the film, Gazzara said: "My wife told me I was too small for the part. Lemme tell you, that was all I was waiting to hear.

"I gained 20 pounds to do that part! All loved his food, you know. It was wonderful, I ate spaghetti every day without guilt."

In the film, Gazzara looked like he not only put on 20 pounds, but he also has quite heavily padded clothing on.

The ending of "Capone" is rather sad, but the ranting Capone, stripped of all power and shouting about the Bolshevik menace trying to take over the country, really doesn't elicit much sympathy from viewers. How can you sympathize with a killer?

Casted with Gazzara are Susan Blakely as his girlfriend, Harry Guardino as his padrone and Sylvester Stallone as Frank Nitti, the enforcer, among others.

"Capone" isn't for the really weak of stomach.

It's an interesting film, but not on my list of top movies of 1975.

Village exhibit offers look at nation growth

The nation's first officially-recognized Bicentennial traveling exhibit, "Industrial Heritage U.S.A.," has returned for its second summer of display at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

The exhibit opened last week after a 10-month tour of 34 major metropolitan areas.

Developed by Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum in cooperation with 26 industrial organizations, "Industrial Heritage U.S.A." illustrates the changes in American life that have resulted from the inventions in industry, commerce and agriculture in the 200 years since our nation's birth.

Literally hundreds of artifacts have been selected from the collections of the village and museum for the exhibits which trace America's industrial progress by contrasting the products of the past with those of today.

Individual showcases center on the evolution of such diverse areas as home entertainment, home lighting, the bath, the kitchen, farm equipment, clothing and electrical power.

"Industrial Heritage U.S.A." opened to the public for the first time at the Museum on July 4, 1974. Since then it has been viewed by close to three million people in 23 states.

Following Labor Day, "Industrial Heritage U.S.A." will again embark on its nationwide tour, returning to the museum in the summer of 1976 and for the last two months of America's Bicentennial year.

Whether on tour or at the museum, "Industrial Heritage U.S.A." is a logical extension of the educational purpose of the village and museum and broadens that function by reaching beyond the physical boundaries of the museum complex itself.

Mackinac Island: Past in concentrated spot

Midwesterners looking for their historic roots this Bicentennial year, might look to a tiny island in the straits between Lakes

Huron and Michigan. Mackinac Island truly is a payoff for vacationers who want their history concentrated in a tiny space.

History stepped off from this island of no more than 3½ square miles. Jean Nicolet, discoverer of Lake Michigan in 1634, made camp here. Marquette and Joliet, in the winter of 1673, laid plans for their explorations and canoed into history from this island base. LaSalle and Tonty set out from Mackinac in 1682 on their historic trip to the mouth of the Mississippi.

French, British and U.S. troops fought on the island, control of which during the Revolution was vital to the British strategy for dominance of the entire Northwest.

Major Robert Rogers of Rogers' Rangers, French and Indian War fame, briefly commanded the garrison. (He went home in 1759.) French, British, and American flags have flown over the ramparts of the island fort, and it changed hands between American and British forces four times during the Revolution and War of 1812.

John Jacob Astor's American Fur Co. headquartered on the island and the historic fur traders' buildings are restored.

Sitting amidst this history is the Grand Hotel, and elegant resort that beckons the island visitor.

Bestrewn with stars in travel books for both its accommodations and cuisine, the Grand can accommodate over 550 guests—all of whom could congregate comfortably on its 880-foot long veranda. History buffs will find the hotel itself something of an historic attraction.

Established in 1887, the giant inn can serve as the focal point for explorations of the island, viewing of the restored fort and visiting the tiny but historic town. The entire island has been included in the National Register of Historic Places.

Visitors can explore all of Mackinac Island without being in danger of an auto accident. No cars are permitted on the island. Motive power is provided by foot, bicycle, or horse drawn surney.

And while they may not be a product of the island today, the famous Mackinac jacket originated on the island in 1812. That year the British commandant of the fort found his troops without warm winter gear after the last supply ship had departed for the season. So, he commandeered the colorful Hudson Bay blankets in the settler's stores and had them cut and sewn into the warm winter short coats that have become famous worldwide. Maybe they weren't military, but they kept the soldiers warm that winter.

PCHA faces problem of costlier insurance

A high malpractice insurance coverage request, confronting the Board of Directors of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) and its administration will not only result in a significant increase in operational costs of PCHA hospital units but may be passed on to patients in the form of higher rates.

The PCHA Board of Directors, when informed that the present malpractice insurance coverage, of $242,000, underwritten by three insurance firms, now will cost $890,000 instructed Luther Lawrence, director of fiscal affairs, to immediately study the present insurance market in hopes of receiving a "better" quotation. At a recent meeting of the directors, Lawrence reported that a substantial increase in such insurance will cover only PCHA employees and no member of the medical staff.

Members of the medical staff are required to have and pay for their own malpractice insurance, while the PCHA provides what is known as "self insurance" which is paid from its own reserves. This provides $100,000 per person and $300,000 per occurrence.

The Board of Directors approved increasing the self insurance total to $1 million dollars and increasing the insurance reserves to $2 million for this purpose.

In addition to its own reserve fund, the PCHA must have "excess insurance," according to Lawrence, and the substantial boost in the annual premium for this excess insurance for malpractice coverage is the $890,000 quotation now under consideration by hospital administrators.

"The new rates to meet the present malpractice insurance coverage will have a significant effect on the cost of operations," Lawrence said. "I don't know yet how to meet this additional costs, but it will have to be passed on to the patients. There is nothing else to do."

Lawrence added that he is checking the entire insurance market for a better quotation. Under recent court decisions, the PCHA, a state licensed, non-profit agency, can't be sued per se, but its employees can and thus must provide malpractice insurance.

In March, the PCHA directors, in approving the 1975-76 operating budget, raised hospital rates by a 7 percent boost.

SPECIAL THANKS — Sylvia Weedon (left) and Faith Shellenburger, the president and treasurer respectively of the Elwell Elementary School PTO in Van Buren Township had a special thanks for Hal Dubisky of Hal's Market near Bemis and Sumpter roads in Sumpter Township for his help with the PTO-sponsored lunch program. Dubisky sold potato chips, candy, hot dogs and hamburger to the PTO for the lunch program at his cost, and on some occasions donated the food free of charge to the program. He received a plaque in recognition of his help.

Board passes salary hikes

Annual salary improvements for 14 members of the administrative staff of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) have been approved unanimously by the PCHA Board of Directors.

The salary increases approved by the board at a recent meeting ranged from $500 to $2,720 and totaled in excess of $26,974.

The Operating Committee of the PCHA previously had recommended approval of the new salary scale for administrators of the PCHA hospitals.

The salary improvements, which are effective July 1, are the results of an annual review by the PCHA's Operating Committee of reimbursements to administrative personnel.

PCHA officials receiving new wage adjustments are W.S. Wheeler, administrator at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, $36,720, or up $2,720; H.A. Sugarman, administrator at Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park $32,400, or up $2,400; R. G. How to have a great family vacation without going too far.

Stay right in your own backyard. Chances are, there are plenty of exciting things to do as a family that aren't that far away. Like visiting a national park. Go fishing. Or camping. Or taking a short trip to the nearest big city or point of interest. And remember. If you're a little short of money for your vacation, see HFC about a Traveloan. You may borrow up to $1500 from Household Finance to pay for your next family vacation. And that'll go a long way. Even if you don't.

State study shows 55 mph reduces deaths

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin has said the results of a State Safety Commission traffic research study show that the 55 miles per hour (mph) speed limit has resulted in a 20 percent reduction in freeway traffic deaths and a 40 percent reduction on other state trunklines.

Austin, who is Chairman of the Commission, said: "This life saving effect was recorded when traffic patterns and traffic volume were back up to normal after the end of the fuel shortages last year. It is related directly to the enforcement of the 55 mph speed limit."

Austin said the study is the first in the nation to analyze the relationships of vehicle use, fuel availability, crashes and traffic deaths occurring within a single state for periods before, during and after the 1974 energy crisis.

He added that study found that, unlike other drivers, those in the 17-19 age group were indifferent to both high fuel prices and the lowered speed limit.

"Not only did they show almost no reduction in fatal crashes during the heights of the energy crisis, their involvement in fatal crashes actually increased to an all time high in the period after the energy crisis — when other age groups were maintaining dramatic reductions," he continued.

In summary the report said:

- The reduction in driver exposure due to the energy crisis did not account for the 29 percent reduction in fatal crashes during the first half of 1974.
- The reduction in speeds on all categories of roads reduced crash severity, which in turn resulted in fewer traffic deaths.
- The contribution of reduced speeds and reduced traffic deaths after the return to normal traffic volumes and patterns shows that the 55 mph speed limit is effective in reducing fatalities when enforced.
- The large reduction (41 percent) in traffic deaths on non-interstate trunklines even with a relatively small (5 mph) decrease in speeds that speed limits even lower on these type roads, if strictly enforced, would pay off in even lower fatalities.
- There would be significant safety benefits derived from an acceleration of the long term program of upgrading all of Michigan's trunklines toward interstate standards.
- The relatively small (20 percent) decrease in traffic deaths on interstate highways, despite a relatively large (10 mph) decrease in speeds points to the possibility of achieving a net gain in lives saved by using available police resources for strict enforcement efforts on non-interstate highways even at the expense of a slight increase in freeway speeds.

—The sudden jump to a new high fatality rate of drivers aged 17-19 (up almost 50 percent in the last half of 1974) together with their continuing disproportionate share of speeding violations during the energy crisis, signals a need for improving driver behavior within this group by such direct active measures as warning letters, driver improvement sessions, court admonitions, or special reviews and examinations at license renewal time.

AT WASHINGTON CONFERENCE—Eight Sumpter Township officials joined with Congressman William D. Ford at the Congressman's recent Municipal Officials Conference in Washington to discuss the problems facing communities today. Attending the meeting were (from left,

VA warning: Survivors should learn of benefits

With about 355,000 veterans having died during the 1974 fiscal year and 206,000 of these deaths World War II veterans, the Veterans Administration (VA) has issued a reminder to veterans to make certain their survivors know what benefits they may be entitled to.

"Not only should the veteran and his wife discuss the subject of death, they should make known locations of important family documents and make sure they are protected from fire, theft and damage," a VA spokesman said. Also, survivors should be briefed on what to do in case of the veteran's death.

The veteran should tell his family about possible survivor's benefits such as VA's dependency and indemnity compensation for service-connected death, or non-service-connected death pensions for widows, or for children when there is no widow, or when a widow is ineligible because of excessive income.

Burial benefits for wartime and certain peacetime veterans should not be overlooked. These include a maximum $250 burial allowance, plus a plot allowance not exceeding $150 for veterans buried outside national cemeteries. For veterans who die of service-connected disabilities, in lieu of the other benefits, there is an $800 burial allowance.

It equally is important to keep track of GI insurance policy numbers, claim numbers for use on correspondence with VA, commercial insurance policies, social security numbers and naturalization papers, all important in claiming various survivor benefits, the spokesman added.

For those who don't have all the information and for those who do, VA officials offered some final advice to survivors: "Don't forget to turn to VA offices and veterans service organizations when assistance is needed after the death of a veteran. They stand ready to help in any way possible."

Resident studies in Alberta, B.C.

A Romulus resident has joined 31 other students from throughout the United States in a summer field camp program in western Canada, sponsored by the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh geology department.

Allen Young of 6152 Hyde Park left June 20 for Canmore, Alberta, Canada, to make both detailed and regional geologic interpretations, based on field observations, at the camp site.

The first three weeks of the trip will be spent in the Rocky Mountains of southern Alberta and British Columbia, where students will work on the stratigraphic and structural problems of the area.

The second portion of the trip will be spent at Tagish Lake on the Klondike Gold Rush "Trail of '98."

The students will be camping at the sites and will be involved in daily

Eager Beavers find summer a fun-filled time

The Eager Beavers of Romulus' Family and Neighborhood Services Center has been reaping the benefits of a fun-filled summer under the directorship of Geneva Clark and her co-workers. Last month began with the annual summer day camp program with arts and crafts, educational developments and recreation. The workers, Brenda Clark, Sue Majiaraki, Pat Stevens, and Andre Parson and William Anderson prepared lesson plans for each day and were responsible for carrying out the plans and activities of each group.

The Eager Beavers already have enjoyed a train ride on Amtrak's Turbo Jet from Detroit to Ann Arbor. The group motored to Detroit where they boarded the train and arrived in Ann Arbor to be driven to Island Park where there was picnicking and games. They returned by train to Detroit and received an engineer's cap and a souvenir button, and motored home, seeing Detroit from its busy freeways.

Last week the group experienced an overnight campout in Hayes State Park, near Clinton. Hot dogs and hamburgers cooked in the open also pancakes with bacon and sausage for breakfast were just some of the treats. Just sleeping in tents and "swimming in the lake" were the biggest attraction for most of the youngsters. Still more fun is to come. The Eager Beavers are looking forward to added attractions in the near future such as trips to Cascade Falls, near Jackson; the airport; a Tiger baseball game; theater and luncheon; and a puppet show in Kennedy Park, golfing and a family picnic.

The program had its beginning in 1972 under the auspices of the Family and Neighborhood Services, under the directorship of Mrs. Clark, but the group would be lost without the aid of the Romulus Board of Education, Jaycees and the Eager Beaver Volunteer Commission.

Active Eager Beavers participating in the day camp program were Teddy Workman, Eric Butler,

Penny Wooden, Connie Fisher, Robert Cahill Keith and Kendra Immel, Bobby

Brooks, Raymond Wilson, Roger Cobb; Raymond Farver and Thomas Eves.

Mahalak says budget will meet units' needs

The combined State Police and Military Affairs departments budget just approved by the House will meet revenue limitations, yet allow both departments to do their job, according to one state representative.

The appropriation, as sent to the Senate, includes $86.9 million for the State Police and $8.8 million for the Department of Military Affairs. "After a thorough review of needs for fiscal 1975-76, the entire Appropriations Committee found it was necessary to set the State Police Budget at $4.8 million over the governor's recommendation," Mahalak said. "That increase included $2.5 million to finance the City of Detroit's patrol of state highways within the city and the use of the Detroit Crime Laboratory for state investigative forces." He added that the $86.9 million State Police budget will require $71.6 million in state funds and the military affairs budget $8.7 million in state funds. The remainders primarily are funded federally.

Malahalak noted that the House, after lengthy debate, voted to appropriate, the special funds for Detroit in order to cover services which the city has threatened to discontinue because of financial problems.

The budget measure was the second appropriations bill reported out to the House by the Appropriations Committee. The action followed several months of hearings, studies and review by Mahalak's subcommittee.

"In preparing the budget the subcommittee took into consideration the projected limitations in state revenues for the new fiscal year, as well as the need to continue vital state services," he said.

Residents must report changes

Western Wayne County residents who don't report changes in circumstances that affect their supplemental security income payments may have a penalty deducted from future payments.

The supplemental security income program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind or disabled. Eligibility for payments and payment amounts can be affected by changes in income, place of residence, marital status and other circumstances.

People have 30 days to report such changes to any Social Security Office. Under the law, failure to report changes, or delay in reporting changes, can mean reductions in supplemental security income payments.

The penalty is $25 for the first failure or delay, $50 for the second, and $100 for each subsequent failure or delay.

The penalty isn't applied if people couldn't help reporting late or weren't at fault for not reporting changes in their circumstances.

Also, people who make a false statement that causes them to get money not rightfully due may be prosecuted for fraud.

People getting supplemental security income payments can get information about reporting changes in their circumstances by calling or writing any social security office.

The Dearborn Social Security Office is at 5141 Oakman Blvd., and can be contacted at 493-1111.

Into 2-team affair

Women's league shapes up

By TOM MOORADIAN
Ent-Roman Sports
Editor

The Eastern Division of the Romulus Softball Women's League is shaping up into a 2-team affair as Kid Power and The Odd Squad have amassed 4-0 records.

But Kid Power can thank a late rally against the Troopers unmarred record. The league co-leader edged the third place Buzz Troop, 7-6, handing the losers their first setback of the season.

Tareia Gray drilled two home runs and sisters Joyce, Priscilla and Eve Hamlin pounded out three hits apiece to pace the winner's attack.

Diana Williams' roundtripper highlighted the Troopers' assault. She also connected for three hits, while Sheila Gira and Debbie Delrosa came through with two and three hits, respectively.

The Odd Squad also picked up a decision the easy way. The Whiz Kids were "no shows" for the scheduled contest.

Meanwhile, The Bu'shirts turned back Our Gang, 17-4, as Ronda Beebe, Carol Skura and Betty Weiss checked in with three hits each. Teammate Carol Johnson supplied the winners with a single and double.

Pat Anderson and Linda Goodman stood out at the plate for Our Gang whose record dipped to 1-3 on the season. Anderson and Ramsey laced two hits and Patty Reid played an excellent defensive game.

The Spirit of '76 remained in contention, posting its third win in four starts at the expense of Kel Joys 10-5. Angie Hicks and Diane Summerfield picked up three hits, Sylvia Dubinsky swatted two for the winners.

In a low-scoring, well-played contest, the Airline Bombers earned its first win of the season, trimming the Warriors 6-3. Janet Slater's pair of homers highlighted the Bombers' attack. Teammates Patty Sypula, Janie Slater and Theresa Byrd chipped in with two hits.

Sherry Adams and Margaret Ayers supplied the losers with two hits apiece.

Meanwhile, over in the West division, Chocolate City stretched its winning streak to four games, leading the league with a perfect 4-0 record.

The league-leader riddled the Rookies, 20-11, behind the hitting of Theresa Gibson, Vi Casey, Lynn Dinkins and Cup Casey. The Rookies received a home run from Windy Woodley. Carol Wallace, Peggy Coleman and Cathy Genaw also came away with two hits each for the losers.

Members of the Foul Balls found themselves on the shortend of a 10-9 score against the 2001 contingent as Nancy Gent pounded out two home runs and Patsy Dolencic also homered for the winners.

Patty McLean and Lori Hadyniak each had three hits for the winners.

Sparkling the loser's battery were Sharon Priestaf, Cathy Latarte, Phoebe McIsrac and Jan Funnel, each with two hits.

The 69'ers edged the Denim Dolls 16-15 in a slugfest that featured four hits each from Cheryl Elliott, Carol Casmer and Pat Suksi. Teammates Bonnie Hood contributed three hits in the winning cause.

Sports

Connie Cox and Sharon Smith hit home runs for the Dolls and teammates Judy Capparet and Judy Mullens combined for eight RBI's.

The Beepers buried the Hustlers, 26-6. Lucy Kalis hammered a home run and Pat Cadden socked five hits, while Gorney stroked four for the winners.

Tammy Akend clobbered a home run and wound up with three hits and Kathy Kevek also pulled in with three hits.

The Tarantulas stunned the New Streakers 22-6 as they went over the .500 mark, (2-1) thanks to the hitting of Vickie Branerd, Carol Hammell and Denia Gabny who each had home runs.

Cheryl Oaks also had an excellent day at the plate as she cleaned up with five hits. The Streakers got a home run from Faye Savage and two hits from Jan Coleman.

The Kerettes topped Euphoria 15-6 as Melonie Franklin, Maria Franklin, Kathy Vinson and Helen Platz led the hitters. Euphoria's best efforts came from Raye Lombardi, Cheryl Abdo, Sue Hopson and Linda Hanner.

Race nears end

It's all but over in the Romulus South Senior Little League baseball title race.

Reel Realty, getting superb pitching from Mark Pokorwinski and Kevin Hernandez, streaked to its sixth win on the season to remain undefeated and in command of the league.

The nearest challengers

— Baum Funeral Home, Commercial Carriers and Polkadot Restaurant — all are with 2-4 records.

Pokorwinski tossed a no-hitter in Reel's 7-0 triumph over Baum's. He's now won three games, struck out 41 and given up one hit in amassing a 3-0 record.

Hernandez, 3-0 on the season, has turned in a 3-hitter and 2-hitter this season.

Manager Chuck Cady also was designated as the All-Star game coach.

Huron Valley, Bean Pot are league title leaders

Huron Valley Steel and Bean Pot can't afford to make any mistakes.

Huron, atop of the Romulus Men's Softball Class A Division, has a 1-game cushion over Baum's Funeral Home, while the Bean Pot, an upset victim last week, also has a narrow game edge over the Jaycees in the Class B title race.

Baum's closed in the frontrunning Huron ball club by surviving a close call from Morris Levine, 7-6. The winners have amassed an 8-2 record as compared to Huron's 9-1 mark.

The Jaycees gained ground by taking two last week, beating Difco 8-4, while shutting out Walter's Bar 5-0.

In other action, Romulus

Welding overpowered American Hospital Supply 19-4 as the winners struck for five runs in the first, third and fourth innings.

Jerry Palowski starred on the mound and at the plate as he checked his rivals on a 4-hitter, then batted 3-for-4 which included a single, double and triple. Teammate Bill Reiber also carved out two triples and a single in a 3-for-4 effort.

Ron Dick chipped in with two hits, while John Sterling drove in three runs.

A 16-run outburst by Romulus Welding destroyed Crova's 30-2, as Reiber and Dick each drilled two home runs and counted five and four RBI's, respectively.

John Sterling had a pair of singles and a double while Pawloski wound up with a perfect 2-for-2.

Seven-Eleven Party Store continued its hot streak as it turned back American Hospital 16-7. Mel Allen homered and laced two singles while, Dan Lagasse had a pair of singles and a double for the winners.

AUTO FACTS

by Jr. Kosin

Various belts in the engine of your car should be checked periodically for tension and signs of deterioration. If you find a belt that is cracked, glazed, or worn looking, replace it before it begins to make unpleasant noises, or worse, snap altogether. This applies not only to the drive belt attached to the alternator, but to the belts from the crankshaft pulleys that operate such options as the air conditioner, power steering, and air-injection pump.

When you suspect a worn belt, stop at KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Mivhigan, Inkster, and get a replacement. Learn to stop trouble before it stops you! We have a complete stock of all parts for foreign and domestic cars. Our friendly and experienced counter staff will gladly help you select the proper parts for your particular car. Should you need machine shop work, we have a complete shop on our premises run by expert machinists. KOSIN'S is open daily at 8 A.M. until 8 P.M. and on Saturdays from 8 A.M. until 5 P.M. Call us at 563-3894 for any of your automobile needs.

BOXING

Tourney to aid league

The Romulus Ladies Softball League has found a unique way to muscle some money for its league. No, it's not going to put on a benefit softball game or sell raffle tickets or candy. The gals have put their case before the AAU Boxing Committee and it has responded with a fund-raising boxing tournament that will be held Saturday at Romulus High School gymnasium.

Boxers from Westland, Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Ann Arbor and Toledo have accepted invitations to appear on the evening card.

Westland's John O'Neill is scheduled as a main event. Also in the limelight will be Mickey Goodwin (Melvindale), Roosevelt McKinley (Ann Arbor) and Frank Brown (Flint).

Governed by the Michigan Amateur Athletic Union boxing rules, the bouts will be in three 2-minute series and are scored by sanctioned referees and judges.

As amateurs, the fighters will receive only trophies and traveling expenses.

The Romulus Women's Softball program is co-sponsored by the Romulus Jaycees and the Romulus Recreation Department. All proceeds from the boxing event will be used to further the league and its operation.

Tickets for Saturday's boxing program are available from any member of the softball league. The tickets are priced at $2.50.

"Our league is hopeful that there will be a large turnout," said Betty Weiss. "We already have received considerable assistance from civic groups and individuals who are interested in promoting the women's softball program."

A helping fist

Westlander John O'Neill will be headlining the main event on an AAU sanctioned boxing tournament to be held Saturday at Romulus High.

The hard-hitting boxer will be helping the gals in the Romulus Women's Softball League raise money for operational purposes.

De Sana joins health board

Wayne County Commissioner James DeSana of Wyandotte unanimously has been elected chairman of the County Board of Health, the policy-making body that enforces state and local health laws and establishes health regulations in the county.

DeSana was elected chairman by the four other members of the health board after serving as acting chairman for a year. He has been a member of the health board since 1973, and in May was reappointed by his fellow commissioners for a full 5-year term that expires in 1980.

In accepting the chairmanship DeSana announced the second-year renewal of a $90,000 federal grant for prevention of lead poisoning in preschool youth, and the establishment of a new clinic in Taylor, planned to open in early July.

The lead poisoning prevention program now is concentrated in Highland Park and Hamtramck, but DeSana expects it to move into the downriver area by the end of this summer and eventually throughout the entire county.

BLOOMING WINNER—Al Sanders has something to hang on the wall of his business other than advertisements after receiving a plaque from Susan Hoffer for the best kept business in Romulus. The award was part of the garden contest held in the community. — The Enterprise-Roman photo.

Lead poisoning in children can cause brain damage, retardation, seizures, blindness, kidney problems, learning disability and even death, "and without proper screening, parents cannot detect the symptoms until it is too late to prevent the damage," DeSana warned.

In Highland Park and Hamtramck, 20 percent of the children tested in a Medicaid screening program were found to have elevated lead levels in their blood, according to a report released last year.

The prevention program is aimed toward children aged 1 through 5, and on dwelling units constructed before 1950 which are considered the chief source of the poisoning problem in children who chew lead contaminated objects.

Although some affected children are referred to the prevention program through the Medicaid or county PRESCAD programs, most are discovered by door-to-door contact.

Children found with elevated lead levels are referred for medical treatment, usually to Children's or Ford hospitals, and a public health sanitarian contacts homeowners or landlords and recommends measures to eliminate the lead danger.

Bone up on America: It's Bicentennial time

Boning up on American history seems to be the "in" thing to do what with the nation's Bicentennial celebration being touted in every section of the country. The ballyhoo includes the current attraction in Detroit, the Freedom Train, and some of its memorabilia relates to subjects in the latest books received by the Belleville Public Library. For instance, there's a tome on the First World War, another on information for veterans, an insight to United States politics and even the biography of the "Babe," himself, Babe Ruth. Then, too, there are the countless number of fictionalized versions of Americana and just plain pleasure reading. Be it fact or fancy, your taste in reading matter is on the shelves in Belleville. The library is located at 167 Fourth Street at the corner of Charles.

St. Anthony's festival moved to early August this year

Members of St. Anthony's Parish of Belleville are busy with preparations for their annual church festival, this year being moved from late autumn to the first three days of August.

Mary Ann Emerson and Gary Sampson are co-chairmen of the event which will be held on the church grounds, weather permitting.

Among the many activities planned under the "big top" are a country store under the direction of Sharon Collins and the Mothers Club; a merchant's booth chaired by Lucille Remus; a duck pond tended by G. Warren and shuffle board by Pat Lorbeske.

One of the main attractions, as in years past, will be the doll booth on which Helen Sietz has spent the past several months. She personally is corcheting clothing for the varied sized dolls which will be featured.

There also will be a casino, manned by Bill Bowles, Hugh McLean and E. Lauth and a bingo tent, headed by Nick Nehez. Carol Stypelkoski will run the refreshment stand and dinners will be under the culinary guidance of Gerry Lehman, Lucille Remus and Agnes Cook. Claude Shanks will tend bar.

Bumper car, cork shoot, hooligan and bear toss are being chaired by Betty Tontalo, Frank Lemanski, Wanda Elden and S. Bowles, respectively.

Still other highlights will be the pool shark game, planned by John Chudzinski, instant bingo by L. Herring, roll-a-score by J. Monforton and silver dollars by the Sisters of St. Joseph. Residents of the community are asked to circle Aug. 1 — 3 for three days of fun.

Please note

Due to newspaper policy, we reserve the right to edit, delete and re-write any stories received from our readers. Because we are a weekly paper and limited in staff, time and space, we cannot go into great detail on descriptions of attire, decorations, menus, heritage or other personal additions. According to the format set by management, we use as few adjectives as possible and attempt to write clear, concise stories. We regret that some readers feel we are "obliged" to print items verbatim. In many cases, this would prove very embarrassing to those who are unaware of proper grammar, punctuation and form used by journalists.

Gladwin church site of wedding

The Free Methodist Church in Gladwin was the setting for the June 14 wedding of Susan Shields of Belleville and Michael John Uhrin of Dearborn Heights.

The 1 p.m. rite united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Shields of 41641 Willis Road, Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Uhrin of 4396 9th Street, Ecorse.

For the single-ring ceremony, read by The Rev. Robert Shoaff, the altar was adorned with red and white roses and carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, Susan appeared in a floor length wine-colored gown styled with short sleeves and a V neckline.

Complimenting her dress was a single long stemmed pink rose.

The bride's Godparents, Dennis and Gail Dewey of Allen Park, were chosen to be honor attendants for the occasion. Mrs. Dewey wore a pale green, street-length dress accented by white carnations.

Glenn Dewey of Allen Park was usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shields wore a navy blue street-length dress to which she pinned her corsage of pink carnations.

The wedding breakfast which followed was held at the D.I. Restaurant in Gladwin. The reception for 24 guests took place later at the bride's parents' cottage in Gladwin.

Since their 2-day honeymoon in the same locale, the couple have made their home at the bridegroom's residence at 4925 Hazel, Dearborn Heights.

She attended Belleville High School and her new husband, Ecorse High School. He presently is an employee of Fontana Brothers of Detroit.

Wedding in city park a 'first' for Romulus

Sharon Lee Thompson of Romulus chose the first day of summer for her marriage to Dennis Henry Dubry of Gibraltar. The couple pledged their nuptial vows during a 10 a.m. ceremony at Elmer Johnson Park in Romulus.

The first wedding ever to be held in the city park, the service was conducted by The Rev. William Woods and was attended by some 150 guests.

Sharon, at whose home on 15549 Brandt, Romulus, the couple are living, is the daughter of Eleanor Brzezicki of Lake Orion. Her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dubry of Gibraltar.

The matron of honor, Susanne Cooke of Romulus, made both the bride's gown and her own dress which was of a similar design. The bouquet she carried was comprised of pink daisies.

Northwest Air Lines took the Cubs aboard a 727 plane complete with checking them through the metal detectors. Inside the plane they viewed the different instruments in the cockpit and each of the boys tried their hand at the steering wheel.

United Air Lines provided the cubs with a kitchen tour and explanation of how the trays are prepared and loaded on the plane, and served to the Cubs before concluding the tour.

The Cubs then had a van ride on the runways and toured the outside boun-

State's rivers: Serve a double purpose

Western Wayne county residents with a hankering to be near water, may have their wish when they visit one of many of Michigan's rivers.

Michigan's 36,000 miles of rivers and streams do double duty by providing one of this country's finest recreational facilities in addition to serving as a vital industrial and commercial transportation network.

Fishermen, boaters, shippers and manufacturers all are partners in Michigan's scenic network of rivers and streams. Each group helps pump tourism and commercial dollars into the state's economy.

Few rivers in Michigan are as scenic or accessible as the 20-mile stretch of the Au Sable inland from its mouth at Oscoda. Most popular for recreationists, the stream is favored by trout fishermen, canoeists and sightseers.

The Au Sable not only offers leisurely canoe trips for families, but it is the site of the grueling 240-mile, non-stop championship race from Grayling to Oscoda, which will attract the nation's top paddlers on July 25-26.

While logs once flowed down the Au Sable, the Saginaw River is east Michigan's most famous logging river with more than 100 sawmills once lining the riverbanks between Bay City and Saginaw. More than 150 million logs were floated down that river in the late 1800s. Today, pleasure and commercial vessels cause the only jams on the river.

The Muskegon River — another well-known logging river of the 1800s — annually receives more anglers than any other Michigan stream. More than 35,000 fishermen spent 156,000 angling days along that river in 1974, with their attention centered mainly on coho and chinook salmon.

Michigan, which now surpasses such dominate West Coast fishing states as Washington and Oregon, has become the salmon fishing capital of the world with 27 rivers expected to have significant runs of mature coho and chinook this fall.

The state's salmon industry has grown from approximately 852,000 plantings on the Platte and Big Huron rivers, plus Bear Creek, in 1966 to nearly eight million new coho and chinook presently.

A new variety, the Atlantic salmon, was introduced into state waters in 1972 with fly fishing permitted on a catch-and-release basis on the Boyne River near Boyne City.

Persons preferring trout fishing will find the Boardman River, the site of Kalkaska's National Trout Festival each April, a good choice for brook and brown trout. Rainbows abound in the Sturgeon River near Gaylord.

While the Black River near Ironwood has the state's most waterfalls with 11, the most spectacular is the Tahquamenon Falls on the Tahquamenon River near Newberry. Next to Niagara, the upper Tahquamenon Falls is the largest east of the Mississippi with a drop of 40 feet. Tourists may reach the upper falls either by auto or by one of two privately operated river boats, which start near Hulbert or at Soo Junction off M-28.

Rivers connecting large fresh water lakes are among the state's best-known waterways.

The Detroit River, which flows between Lake St. Clair and Erie, is one of Michigan's most important rivers. Not only is it the deepest at 46 feet near the Ambassador Bridge, but it annually carries more commercial vessels than any other in Michigan.

The 39-mile St. Clair River forms the Blue Water connection between Lakes Huron and St. Clair. The banks of the St. Clair provide one of the most scenic spots anywhere for boat watchers. The historic Rouge River winds through the Detroit metropolitan area, passing by the site where Henry Ford began his auto empire.

More copper and iron ore have been transported along the St. Mary's River than anywhere in the United States. The world's busiest locks system, which is located on the river at Sault Ste. Marie, is one of the state's most popular tourist attractions. The river also links Lakes Superior and Huron.

State nets grant

The State of Michigan has become the recipient of a $59,380 grant authorized by the Intergovernmental Personnel Act (IPA) of 1970, a fact that may affect the Belleville-Romulus community. Richard Ross, State Personnel Director said the grant will be used to improve the quality of public services by improving personnel.

The grant is designed to provide local governments with training in contract administration, labor legislation and budgeting; to establish internship programs and to assess state and local government needs in personnel administration improvement. The IPA Program is administered by the Department of Civil Service, under the direction of Donald Willis.

Special dinner planned

Persons wishing to attend Saturday's dance in the Grand Ballroom of Cobo Hall put on by the Metropolitan Detroit Careers Institute can obtain tickets for the affair at two major department and music stores.

Tickets are $15 for a person and $25 for a couple for the dinner reception dance, honoring guests from Bermuda.

The opening of a display marking America's 200th Anniversary of Independence will be at 5:30 p.m., with the reception, dinner and dance following.

Displays will include a detail of the underground railroad, donated for the evening by the Consumers Power Co. and a heritage book showcase, donated by the Ludington News.

The Bermuda reception is designed to make Americans more familiar with the history of minorities in America, and how the histories of all countries in the Western Hemisphere merge together.

Tickets for the evening also will be available at Cobo Hall.

Student on list

Romulus resident Esther R. Brock was among those students at the Detroit College of Business to be named to the dean's list for the spring quarter. To qualify for the listing, students must achieve a 3.5 or better grade point average at the end of a quarter.

The 39-mile St. Clair River forms the Blue Water connection...

Michigan would not be complete without a visit to see the dancing lights of the famed Musical Foundation on the Grand River near Grand Haven, or the Jordan River near East Jordan, which is being preserved in its natural state through its designation as Michigan's first wild scenic river.

Named after the early explorer and religious leader Father Jacques

Marquette, the Pere Marquette River has a great illuminated cross marking the spot where the early pioneer died in 1675 near Ludington.

Persons seeking a unique inland water boating route should try the Trans-Michigan Waterway Link, which begins at the mouth of the Cheboygan River and flows into Mullett Lake before becoming the Indian River into Burt Lake, where its designation changes to the Crooked River.

For those seeking a different route into Ohio, the St. Joseph River south of Hillsdale flows into the Maumee River system in the Buckeye State as Michigan's most southerly river.

Named after a former Michigan territorial governor and state senator, Lewis Cass, the Cass River flows adjacent to Frankenmuth's famed Bavarian city. The River Raisin is another of the state's most historic rivers. It was the site of a major battle between the Americans and British in the war of 1812.

Respectfully submitted, Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk City of Romulus I, Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk for the City of Romulus, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the Minutes of the Regular Meeting of the Romulus City Council held on the 24th day of June, 1975.

Graduates are proud of diplomas

Graduation generally is considered a young people's activity, with the emphasis on gaining that high school diploma. But in the Romulus Community School District recently, 45 adults of 75+ graduates received their high school diplomas in special commencement exercises. Above one graduate of the adult education program didn't let crutches get in her way, while below another grad shared her diploma with a friend.

Special vehicles gain highway exemption

Farmers in the area may find that some special farm vehicles used only on a seasonal basis may be exempt from the Federal Highway Use Tax. A bill, cleared the Michigan House last week and was sent to the Senate which would exempt certain farm vehicles from the state vehicle registration requirements, thereby exempting them from the federal use tax.

"Many farm vehicles, such as a truck used for hauling and unloading potatoes, may be in use for two or three months and then is parked for the rest of the year," a bill backer said. "It isn't fair for the owners of these vehicles to have to pay the use tax."

"The tax is aimed mainly at trucks that travel the highways continually."

Another reason the bill was necessary was because of the discrepancy in the enforcement of the "implements of husbandry" exemption, the backer added. A category of farm implements known as "implements of husbandry" is exempt from registration.

Toy gifts please children

One of the happier tasks of Children's Leukemia Foundation volunteers, which include residents of Western Wayne County, is the giving of small toys to little ones who must undergo painful bone marrow tests at the Hematology Clinic of Children's Hospital.

It takes a great deal of courage for children to face these tests, and sometimes a furry animal, a small doll or a laugh provoking mechanical toy is all it takes to replace tears with smiles, a foundation spokesman said.

Residents who would like to donate a new small toy for this purpose, or make a cash contribution that is tax-deductible for the purchase of small toys, can call the Children's Leukemia Foundation - 534-5943 - for information.

Consumer views sought for code

More consumer involvement, including the views of Western Wayne county residents, in the preparation of Michigan's first public health code is being sought by the joint legislative - governor's committee overseeing the project.

The vice-chairman of the Public Health Statute Revision Project (PHSRP), Toby Citrin, said more direct participation by consumer groups is needed "to ensure that when the code finally is developed, it will result in better and more economical health care for the individual."

Organized last November, PHSRP is governed by a 12-member commission, appointed by Gov. William Milliken and headed by Citrin, and by a special 10-member legislative committee.

A work group meeting has been scheduled for this summer and, according to Citrin, "our technical groups will welcome views of consumer organizations on the many major issues now in the pre-draft stage."

The meeting of the Public Health Services group will be at 9 a.m. Friday at the Michigan Department of Public Health offices, 3500 N. Logan, Lansing.

Among the issues to receive additional consideration will be:

—The regulation of rates by inpatient care facilities, including county medical units, nursing homes, private and state hospitals and state mental hospitals, but excluding private physicians' offices;

—Defining the universe of personal health care service to be developed at the local level;

—The development of a uniform system of periodically re-licensing health professionals, including doctors, nurses and dentists.

Youths host MD carnival

Several Romulus youths will be sponsoring a Muscular Dystrophy Kiddie Carnival at the home of one to raise funds for research into the dreaded childhood disease.

Bobby Lambert, Mary Sweet, Zina Matheny and neighbors will be sponsoring a carnival starting at 12 p.m. Friday at 38475 Westvale St., Romulus.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets for games and refreshments will be donated to fund research into Muscular Dystrophy.

Did you ever try to define brotherhood? ... This poem by an unknown author does it real well...

"Just a little bit more interest - In other folks' welfare... Just a little greater showing - That really you do care... Just a little more kindness - To those you meet each day, And a little greater effort - To aid them on their way... Just a little more determined - To do the best you can - To help some other fellow - And prove a friend to man... Just a little bit more sunshine - Along life's weary road, Just a little bit more ready - To ease another's load... Just to work a little harder - For other people's good - And to show a bit more friendship - My friend, that's brotherhood..."

The definition shows the need for faith in man, without which there can be little faith in God. Without faith there can be no fraternalism. Without fraternalism there is no brotherhood. ... Quite simple, isn't it? ...

Fireworks possession could result in arrest

Reports from some areas of Michigan of the sale, possession or use of unlawful and dangerous fireworks has brought a reminder warning from State Police Director Col. George L. Halverson that such practices can result in arrest and injury.

New farm act may preserve open spaces

The Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act which became effective last Tuesday, may slow the rapid conversion of lands suited for agriculture and open space to more intensive use.

The act offers tax relief to qualified landowners who are willing to keep their lands undeveloped for at least 10 years. It also exempts the landowner from many special assessments that could be levied by local governments.

Farms of 40 or more acres, 5-40 acres, with a minimum income of $200 per acre of tillable land, and specialty farms with a gross income of more than $2,000 qualify, under the provisions of the act. Farmers must have a signed development rights agreement before Dec. 31 to receive relief on their 1975 Michigan income tax.

Open space land is divided into two categories — designated and local. Land designated by a historical registry, the Natural Rivers Act of 1970 or the Shorelands Protection and Management Act of 1970 qualify as designated open space. Land that conserves natural and scenic resources or enhances recreational opportunities qualifies as local open space.

Applications must be accepted and a development rights easement must be signed before Dec. 31 for a landowner to have his property re-appraised and taxes lowered for next year.

Application forms are available at local city or township offices, the County Clerk's Office and at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service office, 5455 S. Wayne in Wayne. Applications should be filed by Sept. 1 to meet the Dec. 31 deadline.

Belleville firm nets road project

The Thompson-McCully Co. of Belleville has netted a state road construction project after offering the lowest bid on the work during recent bid letting in Lansing.

The project, in Genesee County, involves widening 1.6 miles of M-54 to five lanes to provide for a center left turn lane between Hemphill Road and Lippincott Boulevard, including grading, drainage and paving in Flint and Burton, and the construction of a prestressed box beam bridge to carry M-54 over the Thread River just south of the Boulevard in Flint.

The bid, the lowest of four submitted, was $971,490. The approximate date of completion is November of this year.

Halverson emphasized that virtually all fireworks, regardless of type and size, have been prohibited by law in Michigan for some years.

The State Police fire marshal division points out that only caps for cap pistols and small sparklers, containing not more than .0125 of a pound of burning elements, are legal in the state.

Other than those exceptions, Michigan law dictates that sale or possession of illegal fireworks is a misdemeanor subject on conviction to 90 days in jail, a $100 fine or both.

The State Police said one of the most hazardous devices reported appearing in alarming amounts is a giant, oversize sparkler.

They caution that these burn fiercely and unpredictably and constitute a definite fire hazard.

Another illegal type is a smoke-producing device, due to the prohibited chemical elements it contains. This type usually is lit by a fuse.

The fire marshal also emphasized that many children each year are burned seriously or otherwise injured in playing with fireworks, and that numerous arrests are made by police agencies for illegal sale and possession of them.

Any person having a question about the legality or safety of any firework device should contact local police or fire department or the nearest State Police post.

INFLATION IS GOING TO BE AROUND!

A certain amount of inflation is going to be a part of economic picture as far ahead as the experts can see. This means the longer you wait, the more a new home is going to cost you! It also means the dollars you use to pay off your home mortgage each year will be "cheaper" dollars. Your best hedge against inflation is a home of your own which increases in value each succeeding year. Add to that the fact that your Federal Income Tax each April, and home ownership becomes even more attractive.

Shouldn't you be protecting your family against inflation as you also give them the benefit of a new home? Why not talk it over with one of The Helpful people from Earl Keim Realty? Let us show you why you can't do better than right now!
